

About the author

Dr. Syed H. Akhtar

Dr. Syed Hasan Akhtar is a cardiologist by profession. He was born in Hyderabad, India, and has lived in the United States since 1967. He has a longstanding interest in religions, and has had the opportunity of interacting with people of many different faiths through membership and participation in interfaith organizations. He has made presentations on Islam in schools, churches, and other organizations in America.

About this book:

The information on Islam presented in this book is concise, using simple, straightforward language, and minimizing usage of unfamiliar Arabic words and phrases. The book attempts to explore common values and beliefs contained in all the holy scriptures, and points out the differences as well.

It is the author's hope that this concise presentation will stimulate the reader to undertake a deeper study of the religion of Islam.

Islam

A concise overview presented in simple language

Dr. Syed H. Akhtar